The customers must acknowledge and accept that there can be no guaranteed profit or guaranteed return on their invested capital and under no circumstances a broker can provide customers such guarantee or fixed return on their investment in view of the fact that the prices of securities and futures contract can fall as well as rise depending on the market conditions and performance of the companies. Customers must understand that past performance is not a guide to future performance of the securities, contracts or market as a whole. In case the customers have any doubt or are unclear as to the risks/information disclosed in this document, PSX strongly recommends that such customer should seek an independent legal or financial advice in advance. THE CUSTOMERS MUST BE AWARE OF AND ACQUAINTED WITH THE FOLLOWING:

1. BASIC RISKS INVOLVED IN TRADING IN SECURITIES MARKET:

1.1 VOLATILITY RISK: Volatility risk is the risk of changes in the value of financial products in any direction. High volatility generally means that the values of securities/contracts can undergo dramatic upswings and/or downswings during a short period. Such a high volatility can be expected relatively more in illiquid or less frequently traded securities/contracts than in liquid or more frequently traded ones. Due to volatility, the order of a customer may not be executed or only partially executed due to rapid change in the market prices. Such volatility can also cause price uncertainty of the market orders as the price at which the order is executed can be substantially different from the last available market price or may change significantly thereafter, resulting in a real or notional loss.

1.2 LIQUIDITY RISK:

Liquidity refers to the ability of market participants to buy and/or sell securities expeditiously at a competitive price and with minimal price difference. Generally, it is assumed that more the numbers of orders available in a market, greater is the liquidity. Liquidity is important because with greater liquidity, it is easier for customers to buy and/or sell securities swiftly and with minimal price difference and, as a result, customers are more likely to pay or receive a competitive price for their executed trades. Generally, lower liquidity can be expected in thinly traded instruments than in liquid or more frequently traded ones. As a result, order of customer may only be partially executed, or may be executed with relatively greater price difference or may not be executed at all. Under certain market conditions, it may be difficult or impossible for the customers to liquidate a position in the market at a reasonable price, when there are no outstanding orders either on the buy side or on the sell side, or if trading is halted in a security/contract due to any reason.

1.3 SPECULATIVE TRADING RISK:

Speculation involves trading of a security/contract with the expectation that it will become more valuable in a very near future. These transactions are attempted to make profit from fluctuations in the market value of securities, rather than fundamental value of a security and/or underlying attributes embodied in the securities such as dividends, bonus or any other factor(s) materially affecting the price. Speculative trading results in an uncertain degree of gain or loss. Almost all investment activities involve speculative risks to some extent, as a customer has no idea whether an investment will be a blazing success or an utter failure. Day trading strategy is a common example of speculative trading in which customers buy and sell the same security/derivative within the same day, such that all obligations are netted off and closed and no settlement obligations stand. The customer indulging in a day-trading strategy needs to be more vigilant and informed than the customers investing for a longer period, as market may not move during the day as the day-trader originally anticipated, resulting in a loss to them.

1.4 RISK OF WIDER SPREAD:

The Bid-Ask spread is the difference between the offer price and bid price of a security/contract quoted by the Market Makers or trading parties. The size of spread is affected by a number of factors such as liquidity, volatility, free float (the total number of shares outstanding that are readily available for trading) etc. Generally, low liquidity, high volatility and low free float levels of a security may result in relatively wider Bid-Ask spread. The higher Bid-Ask spread can result in greater cost to customers.

1.5 RISK PERTAINING TO THE PRICE FLUCTUATIONS DUE TO CORPORATE ANNOUNCEMENT:

The corporate announcements by the issuers for the corporate actions or any other material information may affect the price of the securities. These announcements combined with relatively lower liquidity of the security may result in significant price volatility. The customers, while making any investment decision in such securities/contracts, are advised to take into account such announcements. Moreover, the customers should be cautious and vigilant in case fake rumors are circulating in the market. The Customers are advised to refrain from acting purely based on such rumors rather than taking well informed investment decisions in the light of all facts and circumstances associated with such securities and their issuers.

1.6 RISK REDUCING ORDERS:

The customers can place orders for limiting the losses to certain amounts, such as Limit Orders, Stop Loss Orders, and Market Orders etc. Customers must ask their brokers for detailed understanding of these order types. Customers must acknowledge that placement of such orders for limiting losses to certain extent may not always be an effective tool due to rapid movements in the prices of securities and, as a result, such orders may not be executed.

1.7 SYSTEM RISK:

High volume trading will frequently occur at the market opening and before market close. Such high volumes may also occur at any point in the day causing delay in the order's execution or confirmation. During periods of volatility, on account of market participants continuously modifying their order quantity or prices or placing fresh orders, there may be delays in order execution and its confirmations.

1.8 SYSTEMIC RISK:

Systemic risk arises in exceptional circumstances and is the risk that the inability of one or more market participants to perform as expected will cause other participants to be unable to meet their obligations when due, thereby affecting the entire capital market.

1.9 SYSTEM AND NETWORKING RISK:

Trading on the PSX is done electronically, based on satellite/leased line based communications, combination of technologies and computer systems to place and route orders. All these facilities and systems are vulnerable to temporary disruption or failure, or any such other problem/glitch, which may lead to failure to establish access to the trading system/network. Such limitation may result in delay in processing or processing of buy or sell orders in part only or non-processing of orders at all. As with any financial transaction, the customer may experience losses if orders cannot be executed normally due to systems failures on the part of exchange or broker. The losses may be greater if the broker having customers' position does not have adequate back-up systems or procedures. Accordingly, the customers are cautioned to note that although these problems may be temporary in nature, but when the customers have outstanding open positions or unexecuted orders, these limitations represent a risk because of obligations to settle all executed transactions.

1.10 RISK OF ONLINE SERVICES:

The customers who trade or intend to trade online should fully understand the potential risks associated with online trading. Online trading may not be completely secure and reliable and may cause delay in transmitting information, execution of instructions due to technological barriers. Moreover, the customer acknowledges and fully understands that he/she shall be solely responsible for any consequences arising from disclosure of the access codes and/or passwords to any third person or any unauthorized use of the access codes and/or passwords.

1.11 REGULATORY/LEGAL RISK:

Government policies, rules, regulations, and procedures governing trading on the exchange are updated from time to time. Such regulatory actions and changes in the legal/regulatory ecosystem including but not limited to changes in taxes/levies may alter the potential profit of an investment. Some policies of the government may be focused more on some sectors than others thereby affecting the risk and return profile of the investment of the customers in those sectors.

2. RISKS IN DERIVATIVE AND LEVERAGE PRODUCTS:

Derivative and leveraged trades enable the customers to take larger exposure with smaller amount of investment as margin. Such trades carry high level of risk and the customers should carefully consider whether the trading in the derivative and leveraged products is suitable for them, as it may not be suitable for all customers. The higher the degree of leverage, the greater the possibility of profit or loss it can generate in comparison with the investment involving full amount. Therefore, the customers should trade in the derivative and leveraged products in light of their experiences, objectives, financial resources and other relevant circumstances. Derivative products namely Deliverable Futures Contract, Cash Settled Futures Contract, Stock Index Futures Contract and Index Options Contract and leveraged products namely Margin Trading System, Margin Financing and Securities Lending and Borrowing are available for trading at stock exchange. The customer transacting in the derivative and leveraged markets needs to carefully review the agreement provided by the brokers and also thoroughly read and understand the specifications, terms and conditions which may include mark-up rate, risk disclosures etc. There are a number of additional risks that all customers need to consider while entering into derivative and leveraged market transactions. These risks include the following:

- (a) Trading in the derivative and leveraged markets involves risk and may result in potentially unlimited losses that are greater than the amount deposited with the broker. As with any high risk financial product, the customer should not risk any funds that the customer cannot afford to lose, such as retirement savings, medical and other emergency funds, funds set aside for purposes such as education or home ownership, proceeds from student loans or mortgages, or funds required to meet living expenses.

- (b) All derivative and leveraged trading involves risk, and there is no trading strategy that can eliminate it. Strategies using combinations of positions, such as spreads, may be as risky as outright long or short positions. Trading in equity futures contracts requires knowledge of both the securities and the futures markets.
- (c) The customer needs to be cautious of claims of large profits from trading in such products. Although the high degree of leverage can result in large and immediate gains, it can also result in large and immediate losses.
- (d) Because of the leverage involved and the nature of equity futures contract transactions, customer may feel the effects of his/her losses immediately. The amount of initial margin is small relative to the value of the futures contract so that transactions are 'leveraged' or 'geared'. A relatively small market movement will have a proportionately larger impact on the funds the customer has deposited or will have to deposit. This may work against customer as well as for him/her. Customer may sustain a total loss of initial margin funds and any additional funds deposited with the broker to maintain his/her position. If the market moves against his/her position or margin levels are increased, customer may be called upon to pay substantial additional funds on short notice to maintain his/her position. If the customer fails to comply with a request/call for additional funds within the time specified, his/her position may be liquidated/squared-up at a loss, and customer will be liable for the loss, if any, in his/her account.
- (e) The customer may find it difficult or impossible to liquidate/square-up a position due to certain market conditions. Generally, the customer enters into an offsetting transaction in order to liquidate/square-up a position in a derivative or leverage contract or to limit the risk. If the customers cannot liquidate position, they may not be able to realize a gain in the value on position or prevent losses from increasing. This inability to liquidate could occur, for example, if trading is halted due to some emergency or unusual event in either the equity futures contract or the underlying security, no trading due to imposition of circuit breaker or system failure occurs on the part of exchange or at the broker carrying customers' position. Even if customers can liquidate position, they may be forced to do so at a price that involves a large loss.
- (f) Under certain market conditions, the prices of derivative contracts may not maintain their customary or anticipated relationships to the prices of the underlying security. These pricing disparities could occur, for example, when the market for the equity futures contract is illiquid, when the primary market for the underlying security is closed, or when the reporting of transactions in the underlying security has been delayed.
- (g) The customer may be required to settle certain futures contracts with physical delivery of the underlying security. If the customer hold position in a physically settled equity futures contract until the end of the last trading day prior to expiration, the customer shall be obligated to make or take delivery of the underlying securities, which could involve additional costs. The customer should carefully review the settlement and delivery conditions before entering into an equity futures contract.
- (h) Day trading strategies involving equity futures contracts and other products pose special risks. As with any financial product, customers who seek to purchase and sell the same equity futures in the course of a day to profit from intra-day price movements ("day traders") face a number of special risks, including substantial commissions, exposure to leverage, and competition with professional traders. The customer should thoroughly understand these risks and have appropriate experience before engaging in day trading. The customer should obtain a clear explanation of all commissions, fees and other charges for which he/she will be liable. These charges will affect net profit (if any) or increase loss.

3. GENERAL:

3.1 ASSETS HELD WITH BROKERS:

The customer should familiarize himself/herself with the measures available for protecting from the risk of misappropriation or misuse of cash and securities held with the brokers. For such purpose, he/she may opt for UIN Information System (UIS) provided by National Clearing Company of Pakistan Limited (NCCPL). The customer should also provide correct mobile number/email address in order to receive SMS/e-Alerts services being provided by the NCCPL and Central Depository Company of Pakistan Limited (CDC) on each trade and movement of their securities. Moreover, the customers should be aware of the protections given to money and securities deposited with the brokers, particularly in the event of a default by such broker or the broker's insolvency or bankruptcy. JS Global can proudly claim to have set many milestones in its remarkable journey as a leading brokerage firm in Pakistan. We laid the foundations of professional brokering by being the first corporate member of Karachi Stock Exchange. We have since grown to be the largest TREC Holder of Pakistan Stock Exchange (PSX), with an equity capital exceeding Rs. 2 billion. In addition to being a subsidiary of JS Bank, we are also a listed company on PSX with a PACRA rating of AA long term and A1+ short term, the best rating for a brokerage firm in the capital markets. JS Global has also been awarded BMR-1 (Broker Management Rating) ranking by PACR.

Arguably, JS Global has the largest foreign investors' client base in Pakistan. We are the choice brokerage firm to trade through for the world's largest international brokers/dealers when investing in Pakistan, because of our efficient and seamless execution and settlement skills, research and largest execution capacity. We have set up branches in all the major cities of Pakistan, with presence in Karachi, Lahore, Islamabad, Faisalabad, Hyderabad, Multan, Peshawar, with many more to come in the future.

Our online trading services, JS Global Online, provides its investors with desktop, web and mobile access through a unique multi-exchange trading platform which allows access to PSX and PMEX from a single login. Our pioneering role in the development of Margin Financing has ensured that your trading activity covers the entire spectrum of financial services available in capital markets of Pakistan.

Our pride in being the market leader is also reflected in our responsibility to provide the right trading tools to our customers, so that they can always take an informed financial decision, at the right time. Our traders/sales executives, whether servicing our offline or online customers, follow a strict code of conduct and ethics and build their sales pitch on the basis of fundamental/technical analysis provided by JS Research. Nonetheless, before executing any transaction, an investor must be mindful of the following factors:

1. The foundation of any investment decision is the research and analysis conducted on its viability and timing. Likewise any decision to trade in the capital markets should be viewed in the same light. JS Research publishes daily in-depth analysis to facilitate your decision making process and it is always recommended that your trading activity should be focused within these fundamentally strong and dividend yielding companies. The online research portal on www.jsglobalonline.com provides detailed historical and projected valuations for blue chip companies.
2. While the research and recommendations generated by JS Global is compiled based upon information obtained from sources which are assumed to be reliable and in good faith, such information is not verified or checked by JS Global, and consequently, all information or recommendations given in a particular research report may or may not prove to be correct, and might even change without notice and therefore, it should not be assumed that the information contained herein is necessarily complete, accurate, reliable or up-to-date at any given time. No guaranty, representation or warranty, expressed or implied, is made as to the accuracy, completeness, reasonableness, correctness, usability, suitability or purposefulness of the analysis published by JS Research.

3. All investments are subject to market risks, price fluctuations and other risks inherent in all such investments, to an extent that the capital invested in the capital markets could, in extreme circumstances, lose its entire value. Consequently, JS Global can neither guarantee any target returns, dividends, profitability nor return on investments for any of its clients, nor can it guarantee the accurateness of the recommendations and the research provided to its customers. The responsibility of any trade (buy or sell) rests solely on the customer. JS Global or its management and trader/sales executive will not be responsible for any research report or market/personal views being provided.
4. JS Global traders/sales executives may provide views/opinions on other listed, active securities which are not covered by JS Research. These views are only offered as a means to understand market sentiments and expected market/stock behavior. But, it is important to note that transactions in such stocks would only be executed by JS Global and its traders based on the customer's own assessed decision. It is recommended that the client should obtain and analyze complete information about the investment that is contemplated to be made and not rely on rumors or second hand information.
5. The terms and conditions as contained in the Account Opening Form are the basis of our relationship with our clients, and we would encourage our clients and customers to review them in depth, especially the Risk Disclaimer, to assess their suitability to investing and trading in the capital markets.
6. There is inherent risk in investing in the capital markets, which can be volatile as well as fluctuate extensively due to market forces, which are unforeseeable as well as beyond the control of any person or party, including JS Global.

Our responsibility to our customers includes providing a complete and comprehensive operational and risk framework to trade. JS Global has always endeavored for a healthy trading environment which discourages the use of speculation or excessive leverage to trade in the markets. Additionally, we strongly recommend to all our clients:

1. To review their Day-end trade confirmations and intimate within 24 hours if there is any discrepancy.
2. To review our automated risk management calls (Margin/Debit Calls) which should be addressed within 24 hours of receiving. Our advice is to understand that a risk margin/debit call means that the client's trading activity is suffering losses, therefore the situation requires immediate attention and follow-up action from the pertinent customer. JS Global reserves the right to liquidate any position in order to bring the exposure within company policy.
3. To be careful in the Commodities Market due to extended working hours, volatility, and automated liquidation threshold which are triggered at the exchange level.
4. To understand the inherent risk of loss in investment and especially, leveraged trading. An investor must carefully consider whether leveraged trading is appropriate for him in light of his age, experience, objective, financial resources and other relevant circumstances.
5. To understand that trade executions are dependent on IT systems in both online and offline trading environments. JS Global has invested heavily in its IT infrastructure and strives to provide 99.99% reliability. However, just like any other technology framework, there can be instances of service downtime which are beyond the control of JS Global. In such situations, the client should immediately contact his/her trader/Customer Care representatives who will endeavor to execute trades through alternate channels. Please note that JS Global will not be responsible in any manner whatsoever for any consequence/loss arising due to a service downtime or technical/IT related glitch.
6. To realize that JS Global employees follow a strict code of personal conduct. In our daily dealings with our clients, we take pride in our professional approach and adherence to polite business language. We expect our clients to conduct themselves in the same manner. Any abusive/foul language is not acceptable and JS Global reserves the right to immediately terminate the telephone call/meeting and initiate account closure procedures.

7. To immediately report within 24 hours if any employee of JS Global makes an offer of any private deals, guaranteed profit, profit sharing schemes, direct deals in physical shares or any other proposal which does not conform to the applicable laws, rules, regulations, or the policies and procedures of JS Global/PSX/SECP/NCCPL/CDC.
8. To immediately report within 24 hours if any trade is executed without any direct and clear instructions which have been issued through a recorded telephone conversation, written or email instructions, the clients' online trading terminal or the clients' physical, in person, presence in any of our offices across Pakistan.
9. To immediately report within 24 hours to JS Global if any employee of JS Global recommends or executes a transaction in a manner or through a channel which is contrary to the established medium of trading in listed securities, or if any employee or trader recommends a particular stock based on non-public inside information.
10. JS Global provides the convenience to its clients to directly deposit funds into JS Global bank account from the nationwide network of JS Bank branches. However, it is important to note that as per PSX regulations, we cannot accept third party cheques or accept cash deposits exceeding Rs. 25,000. In case if the payment is made through cheque, make sure that it is crossed and in the name of "JS Global Capital Limited".
11. JS Global clients must keep documentary evidences of Trade confirmations, Payment receipts, Ledger reports and CDC Sub-account balance reports forwarded to them from time to time by the Company.
12. If the order is given offline, make sure that the same is given either on the recorded telephone line of the JS Global provided to you at the time of opening of account or by visiting the respective branch and signing the trade log.
13. To retain the copy of Account Opening Form and schedule of applicable fee & charges for your record.
14. Always obtain periodical statement of trading account and CDC Sub-account from your respective branch/trader and compare with your record.
15. Do not authorize someone else to operate your account on your behalf without knowing the consequences. Keep in mind that such authorization carries risk of misuse of authority by the authorized person and may lead to fraud, for which the company shall not be responsible.
